About the university

The DHBW Mosbach is one of nine locations of the Baden-Wuerttemberg Cooperative State University in the federal state of Baden-Wuerttemberg in southwestern Germany.

DHBW Mosbach has two campuses: one in the town of Mosbach and one in Bad Mergentheim. With their charming city centers with traditional German architecture, their location amidst hilly woods and castles and their many cultural events, both towns attract hundreds of visitors throughout the year.

The DHBW Mosbach welcomes about 100 exchange students to its two campuses every year and we would be very happy to see you here as well.

Really good reasons for choosing DHBW Mosbach as your exchange destination:

- Semester-programs in a tightly-knit group of students and small classes

- Courses in ready-made programs: English-taught programs (International Programs) or German language and culture classes (GLACIP)
- Lots of fun excursions and events included in the programs
- Dedicated support by International Office and German buddy
- Safe, friendly and beautiful environment with easy access to the rest of Europe
