About the university

PXL University College, you just have to feel it. You can only do that by either chatting with students who are already studying at the university, chatting with PXL teachers/lecturers, visiting a PXL graduate who is doing your dream job, attending classes during our open days, visiting us or coming to an information day. Despite the fact that you cannot 'feel' PXL University College via this website, as director and 'proud watering can', I would like to introduce our university college by way of introduction ...
